STEPHEN MOLLOY

Objectif France

Hi Ollami Partners, I'm Stephen from Objectif France. I'm a Kiwi, and a lover of all things two-wheeled, it was the 2004 Tour de France that lured me here. Yet it was the cheese, history, culture and l'amour that convinced me to stay. My last big trip was exploring the Haut Savoie and my favourite hotel is Instants d'Absolu Ecolodge.

FEATURED TOUR

As we have arrived to late summer I would highly recommend that travelers check out the Wine, Hiking and Food in Authentic France package that I created. It means having some pampering before and after in the cities, but also a walking holiday traversing vineyards of the southern Beaujolais. The ultimate timing is September when there is a real activity during harvest.

FRANCE - LOCAL TIP

The list of reasons to visit France is endless! One reason France is a must is the diversity of its regions, and I'll give you just one example. The Beaujolais (my adopted home region). You have probably never thought of visiting, yet it is gorgeous and unknown. Its plump and rounded landscape seems handmade for conviviality. It could be Tuscany but isn't, so people are pleased to see you.
